Over 100 students of IIM Bangalore gathered for a candlelight march on Wednesday in remembrance of ManjunathShanmugham, the brave IOC employee and IIMLucknow alumnus, who was brutally murdered for blowing the lid off an oil adulteration racket in Uttar Pradesh in 2005.

Every year, students at all IIMs across the country vow to honor Manjunath's principles by taking a pledge of integrity. IIM Bangalore students showed their commitment to fight corruption by participating in a 45-minute walk which was followed by the students taking an oath of integrity.

Second-year PGP student Sudheender, one of the organizers of the candlelight march, said: "As future business leaders, we cannot afford to overlook the value of integrity in our lives. If India is to progress, we must not forget the sacrifice of people like Manjunath."
